About the Presenter :

Paula C. Rodriguez Rust, PhD, holds a doctorate in Sociology with specialties in social psychology, survey research, racial and ethnic relations, and gender & sexuality. She is sole proprietor of Spectrum Diversity LLC, providing professional development services and bullying prevention education in New Jersey schools. Dr. Rodriguez Rust served on the New Jersey Special Task Force on Bullying and Cyberbullying Awareness and Prevention.

This seminar covers both fundamental and advanced knowledge and skills in bullying prevention and incident response. Bullying and bias are serious issues that affect student safety, educational environment, and school liability. Traditional methods for addressing bullying are inadequate and inconsistent with contemporary best practices.

Topics include:

- Verbal and physical harassment
- Name-calling, bias-based bullying
- Relational aggression ("mean girls")
- Cyber-bullying.
- Participants will learn to distinguish bullying from normal conflict.
- Strategies for on-the-spot intervention, appropriate use of disciplinary and remedial measures, incident follow-up.
- Components of an effective comprehensive school-wide anti-bullying program.
