Did You Know That ...

- Online classes use the same syllabus, the same textbook and cover the same course content as traditional classroom courses?
 - Successful online students login to their online course 3 or more times per week?
 - Students are required to meet specific due dates throughout the semester and on-line courses are not self-paced?
 - Technical issues are not an acceptable reason for failure to meet course expectations?
 - Your instructor and classmates will probably not be online at the same time as you, meaning most interaction and communication will not occur in real time?
 - Tablets and mobile phones do not provide complete access to all online features?
 - Online classes are available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week beginning from midnight the first day of the semester until the last day of the semester?
 - Blackboard tracks your activities in an online course and instructors have access to student activity reports?
 - Anti-plagiarism software is available to assess the originality of your work?
 - Some online classes require in person proctored testing?
