JOBS OF THE FUTURE TODAY
They’re closer than you think - and NOT what you think

Eli Amdur, Senior Coach and Advisor Amdur Coaching and Advisory Group, LLC www.amdurcoaching.com

The future is a lot closer than any of us think, and 25% of the jobs in 2025 are ones that do not even exist now. By 2050, that number will likely be more than 50%.

Look at it this way: chances are 50-50 - and probably even better - that your occupation in 2050, as well as where and how you do it, will be something beyond anything you know today. But it shouldn’t be beyond your imagination.

How will you plan and navigate your career in this, the most dynamic century in history? How must you prepare and develop yourself to take advantage of endless opportunities ahead?

No matter your chosen field or your position in it, you must look further ahead than you ever did to challenge the very core of what you do and to be ready for what is to come.

Eli’s futuristic talk is built on stark realities of today, fearless imagination moving forward, and boundless hope for the future.

Thursday, April 27th at 2pm in the Paterson Theater

For more info please contact
Tom Moore at tmoore@pccc.edu